Property Description

Have you ever thought of living off the grid in Costa Rica? If so this 70+ acre (29+ hectares) farm may be for you. This property is situated on a hillside with panoramic ocean views. If you are more of a mountain view person just turn your head and take in the equally impressive view of the surrounding mountains. You might think that a property like this would be hours from civilization. Wrong, while you feel a million miles away from everything, this farm is located only 30 minutes drive from the services of the town of Quepos and world class Marina Pez Vela while only 40 minutes from the beaches and National Park of Manuel Antonio. With proper vision and execution this would be a remarkable retreat center, nature lodge or a mountain getaway to unplug and enjoy nature. Sunrise over the neighboring mountains as the birds and wildlife begin to wake from the previous nights slumber is a magical experience.
