Property Description

Junquillal, a place where dreams come true. The walking distance from this exceptional condo to a gorgeous, secluded beach on Costa Rica's Pacific coast is exactly 251 yards...just less than one standard Manhattan city block. This is a lovely two bedroom and two and a half bath second floor condominium. From the porch and master bedroom, there are some slight ocean views during the rainy season and better ocean views during the dry season as this condo is only one block to the beach. This condo is pristine and has never been rented beyond lending it out to friends and family during the last ten plus years of ownership. It comes fully equipped and rental ready with everything seen in the photos. This charming beach community is truly one of the best "undiscovered" spots in Costa Rica, combining jungle-lined, unforgettable beaches and natural beauty with exceptional infrastructure and easy access usually found only in areas with more development.
